After coming into this world during the big January snowstorm, Kathi McDonnell's Great-Grandtwins, Eve and Amora, spent the first three months of their lives in the NICU of Cooper Hospital. Both girls were finally well enough and strong enough to make it home in time for Mother's Day.

A VERY GOOD DAY

Submitted by Susan Geldart

It was our anniversary and Walter asked me what I would like to do. I replied, "Go to a zoo!" We are both animal lovers so it was a mutual decision and off we went to Popcorn Park.

The zoo is in Forked River, an easy drive. We were welcomed upon arrival by a stunning peacock who has a very loud cry, almost like a cat. He is one of several living on the premises.

We found the zoo to be an easy walk as it is not too big and was not crowded that day so we could leisurely visit each creature and observe its habitat. What impressed me especially was that every animal had plenty of space in its personal enclosure so it could meander around and get some exercise.

We were anxious to see Balto and Coyote the newly arrived wolf dogs. They are lovely, impressive creatures, whose story was in the Asbury Park Press recently.

All of the animals' histories were posted so we could learn their backgrounds, oftentimes quite sad. Now, thanks to the caring humans who provide for them, they seem content, well fed, and enjoying life.

The dog and cat facility where we adopted our cat Smudge was not available as it is being rebuilt. So that means we will have to come back for another visit. Yay!

A NIGHT OUT WITH FRIENDS

FEATHERED FRIEND

THE ART OF BOOK FOLDING

By Barbara Grasso

Remember making Christmas trees out of an old Reader's Digest? Or folding a magazine into a cute hedgehog? This is all part of the art of Book Folding.

Book folding is the art of marking and folding pages to create 3D sculptures or edge-images. It originated as early as 1891 when Ida Bloch first described folding books into simple fans or mills. The modern hobby surged in the 1960s with magazine folding and exploded into digital pattern-making around 1999.

Book Folding has evolved over the years.

- Early Folding (1891): The first documented publication referencing book folding is Illustriertes Spielbuch für Kinder by Ida Bloch, which featured book fans.
- Magazine Folding (1964): Aleene Jackson popularized “folded magazine projects,” which involved folding entire magazines into decorative 3D objects.
- Modern Book Folding (1999): The first graphic patterns were made available for folding entire books.
- Digital Programming (2001): The first computer programs were developed to generate precise folding patterns, moving the art from basic shapes to intricate letters and images.
- Measure, Mark, and Fold (2014–2015): The introduction of measured patterns allowed for highly detailed and accurate 3D images to be rendered within the pages of a single book.

For me, it started with a class at the library.

One hour. Learn how to fold a book to look like a pumpkin. Then another class followed. This time we would cut and fold pages to create an image of the word “joy”. And after that, I was hooked.

There are two type of book folds that I specialize in. Measure, mark and fold is simply that, measuring, marking your pages and folding. Measure, mark, cut and fold is a bit more detailed with intricate cutting and folding of tiny pieces of that page. While it can be tedious work, it is also very meditative and relaxing.

Many of my books have been displayed and sold in a variety of places. Many have been gifted to special people. A folded book is the perfect way to remember someone either through a date, a hobby or a name.

MY THOUGHTS ON THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

Submitted by MJ Piechocki

I was born and raised in the United States of America in the very city, Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence was signed. I remember that we had to read the Declaration in elementary school during Civics class. Civics was only taught maybe once a month. Of course, to an elementary school kid, this implied it was not nearly as important as Math, Reading and Recess. This year, as a nation we celebrate the 250th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence and that has compelled me to really read this momentous document.

Truly, I never gave much thought to the document itself and we never started our July 4th celebrations with re-reading the Declaration of Independence. (Was my family the only one who didn't?) I knew it stated that as human beings (men) we were entitled to "...life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness..." but never really delved into each line and each word. July 4th was a day to celebrate with a picnic, trip to the beach, BBQ with family and finally going to watch the fireworks in our neighborhood. We'd honor those who gave their lives to protect the freedoms we had by laying wreaths on their graves, and praying for them and our continued peace and freedom. As many of us were, I was a post WWII child so most of us had Dads, Moms, Aunts, Uncles or Cousins who served in the war. In my teen and twenty years, I had many friends and relatives who served in the Viet Nam war. We realized their sacrifices with all our hearts and still do. It seems our country has always been at war during my lifetime and so the sacrifices continue. God bless those who answer the call to serve and protect.

But the Declaration of Independence has imperatives to contemplate that compel us to always come back to the ideals articulated by our brilliant Founding Fathers: All men are created equal, endowed by our Creator with unalienable rights, that governments instituted by men and empowered by their common consent must secure these rights. The unanimous declaration of the original thirteen colonies held these rights to be self evident. As we do today.

Thank you to the men and women who selflessly serve to keep our country free and safe. I have four generations of my family who have served or still serve in the Armed Forces, the newest being my 22 year old granddaughter, Hannah. Thank you for your service: Jack McGuigan,(USN) John Piechocki, (Patton's 3rd Army), Frank McGuigan (Lt. Col USAF retired), Tony Spokas (USArmy 101st Airborne, retired), Adrian Tomkus (USAF), and Hannah Shekey (US Army PFC).

A heartfelt thank you to ALL those who continue to keep our country the Home of the Free because of the Brave!

JULY IS SUMMER

Submitted by MJ Piechocki

Ahhh, the wonderful month of July! To me, summer is July. My only thoughts are of relaxation and vacation! June is wrapping up the year anticipating vacation. August, begins the count down of summer days left. But July is heaven!

July starts out with fireworks, picnics, pool and beach time and just continues that way for the next few weeks. But I guess I love July mostly because of the memories I have from childhood.

My Nan and Pop Eliason used to take our entire extended family down to Wildwood for a week each summer. They would rent a three apartment house in West Wildwood for all of us and rent the cottage next door for themselves. It was cousin time at its best and there were a lot of us – nineteen to be exact. That’s why West Wildwood was the perfect place – small and off the main drag. That week in West Wildwood meant playing stick ball in the middle of Glenwood Ave. That was truly a game of skill when you consider trying to hit half a pimple ball with the handle from a broom! Everyone of us took that very seriously! There were also seven solid days from 10am to 5pm on the beach in Wildwood. Had to make the best of time away from the city. We were all water kids so much of that time we were in the ocean - body surfing, racing the waves, dunking each other and general water mischief. The rest of the time we spent digging holes, making sand castles, burying each other up to our necks and then racing into the water to cool off and rinse off.

In the evenings, we walked the boardwalk dressed in our best dresses or shirts and pants. We rode every ride we could and some of our favorites twice! We didn’t play too many games of chance but the ice cream stands and the fudge shops were absolute must stops.

Those memories are precious!

Now Jim and I are the Nan and Pop and we have tried to do the same thing for the past few years. I’m proud to say our grandchildren are all water kids. Heaven forbid anyone of them should be afraid of the water. But, quite honestly, I was proactive in making the grands comfortable with the water. As soon as they could toddle, I would stand at the edge of the water and lift them up to “jump the waves”. It became a favorite game that made us giggle. Last year, Daisy, now 12, said to me “jump the waves, Grandmom”. Guess that’s my legacy.

I’m hoping that the memories they make with their cousins become precious to them and that the great Jersey shore tradition continues for many more years. That would warm my heart!

Personnel related resolutions included appointments, promotions, resignations, retirements, and a leave of absence. Shared services agreements for fuel services were authorized. Performance guarantees were released. Two resolutions drew pro and con comments from attendees. One opposed proposed legislation that would allow religious and non-profit organizations to convert certain properties. It was opposed because it denies local autonomy in land use planning. Another supported the Safeguard American Voter Eligibility Act (SAVE) which would require documentary proof of US citizenship for voter registration in federal elections. Another resolution opposed proposed reductions to the Stay NJ Property Tax Relief Program included in the states FY 2027 budget. A township wide garage sale was authorized for the weekend of July 18-19, 2026. Sale of surplus real property was authorized.

The Township Engineer reported on drainage paving and road improvements at various locations.

During public comments there were numerous comments about speeding on township roads including Center Street, which was characterized as a freeway. Concern was expressed about the “walkability” of streets because of the lack of sidewalks. Issues were discussed about the performance of paving contractors. A resident presented the Committee with a flag that flew over the US Capitol. It was suggested that more information on proposed ordinances be provided in advance.

During Committee comments residents were urged to participate in the Community Day May 16th at the Community Center. Participants in the recent Senior Expo were thanked for making it a success. It was noted there will be a Memorial Day parade. The next Senior Advisory meeting will be held on May 18 at 10 am at Mystic Shores.

This is a summary of meeting highlights. For more complete information about this meeting see the article that appears in the Leader newspaper or contact the Committee secretary for a transcript of the proceedings. Meeting minutes are also available on the Township website.

A big thank you to George Mitchell for hanging up the new clubhouse ballroom clock. We can always count on George to lend a hand when needed. Thanks to Cheryl and George for replacing the old one with the new!

TIRES BEWARE!

Submitted by Barbara Grasso

As the weather warms up, many Sunrise Bay residents are having their roofs replaced. And along with this comes roofing nails. Please ask your contractor to do a thorough cleanup of your property and the roadway. You don't want to wake up to a flat tire one morning like I did.
